

HUNTING WITH THE ARGO AND OVERFLOW RIVER OUTFITTERS IN THE HEART OF BIG BUCK COUNTRY

Overflow River Outfitters

Since 1962, Overflow River Outfitters has been offering trophy whitetail deer and moose hunting with professional guides throughout 15,000 acres of privately owned farmland and 500,000 acres of provincial forest in Northern Saskatchewan. For nearly five years the camp has relied on their trusty Argo to go where no other vehicle can.

Owner Dean Melnychuk explains, “Our property is in the Hudson Bay area of western Canada which is widely known as a choice destination for mature whitetailed deer and in fact has captured several Boone and Crockett records in the past few years. We use the Argos to get hunters to those hard to reach spots that you just can’t get to with other vehicles, especially in the fall when the ground is really swampy and muddy. We use it set bait traps, hunt moose in October and deer in November. Every year 50 plus hunters get the distinct pleasure of riding in the Argos and the feedback is always positive.”

Located in the heart of Big Buck country, Overflow River Outfitters features full service guided hunts, enclosed heated active bait stands, home cooked meals in a 3,000 square foot modern lodge and boasts a clientele who are 70% repeat guests.

Melnichuk continues: “This is our fourth Argo and the vehicles seem to be getting better and better with every new model that comes out. The guys we have into camp really like it and for the vast majority of them, it’s their first experience. They especially enjoy it when you have to haul a big moose out of the bush, something that you just couldn’t do with a Ranger or quad. The carrying capacity is incredible, even with grain, bails, bait packs, the guys and their guns, we still nearly always have more than enough room to bring home whatever we bag.”
